

WELCOME WITAMY!

To our fourth edition in 2019 with our new name
New Zealand Polish Film Festival!

Since our first edition in 2016 under the name 'Wellington Polish Film Festival', we've accomplished so much. We've had three editions, screened over 40 Polish films including features, documentaries and shorts. We've hosted Polish filmmakers representing their films and we've provided opportunities for filmmakers from Poland and New Zealand to connect. It's the perfect time to expand the NZPFF to movie lovers throughout Aotearoa.

NZPFF – Wellington, Christchurch, Auckland

Our home base is still in Wellington at The Roxy Cinema, our festival host and we'll expand later in 2019 with select screenings in Christchurch and Auckland.

Directed by: Paweł Maślona

FRI
05

A black-humorous feature debut, weaving together six interrelated stories about ordinary people put in extreme situations all experiencing a sudden onset of social anxiety, a panic attack. Bringing together situational humour combined with agonising awkwardness, Panic Attack is a satire on first world problems in our urban environments light-heartedly mixing the tragic and the comic.

Anka is becoming extremely anxious about her beloved husband Witek, a war correspondent. But where does the border lie between reality and catastrophic visions? A powerful psychological drama, with star Polish actress Magdalena Poplawska delivering a compelling role as 'Anka'. Adapted from the autobiographical novel by Grażyna Jagielska about experiencing war second-hand: we don't have to be there for it to have a destructive influence on our lives.
